CAN YOU GUESS.

Here's a Chance to Make Ten Dollars Easy.

All You Have to Do Is Pick the Winners in the Coming Primary.

Just for the interest attached to a guessing contest and to put a little more interest into the coming campaign for County officers, The News will give its readers a chance to make ten dollars and have a little fun at guessing on the side.

To the person making the first nearest correct guess of the winners in the Democratic Primary Election which will be held in this county on Saturday, June 1st, 1901, The News will present a ten dollar gold piece. The conditions of the contest are simple. Old subscribers and new subscribers who pay $2 on their subscriptions will each be entitled to a guess, and to as many guesses as they pay year's subscription. If no one guesses correctly, the first one who guesses the closest to all the winners will receive the ten dollars.

You intend to pay your subscription anyway, and you may as well pay before the first day of June and have a chance of getting your money back, besides gaining the distinction of knowing more about the political situation than your neighbors.

Each guess will be registered when received as to the exact day, hour and minute. No one will be permitted to see how any one else has guessed. In guessing only the offices on the ballot are to be considered.

PEARLS.

How to Find and How to Value
Them.

(Copyright 1900, by HERMAN MYER.)
41 and 43 Maiden Lane, N. Y. City.
SECTION I.

Shell fish, called mussels, and in some parts of the United States and Canada, called fresh water clams, are found in almost every river, large or small, and in many creeks, ponds and lakes in the United States, Canada and Mexico.
Their shells vary much in size, shape, color and thickness. They have many different local and scientific names.
Every variety contains pearls of some sort.

These shell fish are usually found lying half buried in certain shallow parts of a river. If the river is large, they are often very thick and close to each other in beds. Near the source of some smaller streams they are found crawling here and there in the water grass and weeds growing at the edge of the river.
In other streams they are found crawling in the mud at the bottom or lying in cracks between large rocks which compose the bed of the stream.

SHELLS OF TWO DIFFERENT SHAPES.

The inside of the half of each shell is shown. L indicates position of the ligament which must be cut before shell will open. P is the point or part of the shell containing best shaped and brightest pearls. The shell must be opened so as not to touch this part with a knife blade, in order that any pearl it might contain will not be damaged by the knife.

Usually the fishermen, or the boys who go in swimming, are most familiar with these places where the shells are to be found in the greatest quantity. They can direct those who are not so much acquainted with the river to the proper places to search for the shells.

In one small portion of one large river in the United States various instruments are used to procure shells in large quantities for button making.
The shells are all very extra thick and white with a smooth outside. If such shells are found in great quantities near you and are close to a railroad, where freight is cheap, they may have value.
I will examine any package of shells sent me by mail or prepaid express and report free of charge on their value for button making. Be sure that you prepay all charges. The amount is small to you, but when I receive a hundred or two hundred packages a day, it amounts to a large sum to me. I am sure that when I do this work free for which some other people would charge you $25, that you would wish to save any expense. In other sections, including your locality, the shells are obtained by simply wading into the shallow water and removing them with your hands or a rake. Then they are thrown upon the bank, if it be close, or carried there in a boat if it be distant.

After the shells are obtained, they are opened with a heavy Barlow or an old table knife. Insert the knife between the edges of the halves of shell in such a manner as to cut the two ligaments (marked L in cuts) which bind the two valves or sides of the shell together.
You will notice their situation in various forms of shells from the illustrations.
As soon as these ligaments are cut, the shell will open itself. You then examine the flesh of the mussel or clam thoroughly with your eye and also by pressing the flesh between the shell and your thumb to feel for any hard substance. This hard substance is a pearl.

FASHION TIPS FOR MEN.

Latest Novelties in Spring and Summer Garments.

SUBSTITUTE FOR FROCK COATS.

Single Breasted Cutaway With Long Skirts Will Be Generally Worn.
Plaited Skirts in Colors One of the New Things—Latest in Ties, Collars and Hats.

The frock coat will have a serious blow this spring. One authority says that no man should wear a frock coat except on his wedding day and when he is an old man. It is a state garment and, like the king's coronation robe, is only for special occasions. The substitute for a frock coat is a cutaway, single breasted, with long skirts, says the New York Times. It has been evolved from the garment which John Drew introduced at the horse show two years ago, a species of sporting cutaway with long skirts in which there were pockets with flaps. There are no flaps in the new cutaways which will be worn this spring. The material will be vicuna and worsted goods and the color black. Until reaching the waist line this new coat looks like the famous single breasted frock which King Edward was said to have worn last year at a garden party. With this coat goes the top or silk hat, and as it is a garment of semistate it may be worn at all afternoon functions, and it absolutely takes the place of the frock coat and is more comfortable and less formal.

The plaited skirt bosom is one of the "new" things which the haberdashers are exhibiting now. The plaited skirts are in colors. Symphonies in yellow and pale greens are now among the latest. Whether the well dressed man will take to these skirts is a question.
The idea of booming them along is evidently in obedience to the wishes of those who would see the shirt waist man in all of his glory. But that individual still seems to be more of a dream than a reality. The skirts are pretty, however, when the colors are not too striking. The bosoms have three large mother of pearl buttons.
So far the designs are conservative, solid colors and not contrasting shades being shown. Otherwise the colored shirt of the spring and summer will not be as brilliant of hue as in former years. Stripes up and down are among the favorite patterns, and there has been quite a run on black and white—that is, white shirts with a thin black stripe. The shirt collar with such black designs are greatly in vogue. The general mourning in England has much to do with this fashion on this side.

The all around high banded collar will be the favorite neckwear of the spring and summer except with evening dress, when the tall straight standings are worn. The question of colored collars of the same material as the shirt, especially for negligees, has been broached, but the white linen turn down will remain the first in popular favor. The corners are rounded, and the collar is quite high, although not so exaggerated in shape as those of last season. For evening wear the tall straight standing is the proper collar.
There has been some reaction in favor of the standing collar with "wings" or turned down in front, and they have been seen in London with evening wear.

The long, narrow tie known as the "derby" and worn with a high banded collar will be the leading tie for the cravat for spring and summer. These ties are arranged in a small knot drawn very tight, and the stickpin is thrust in the material a short distance below the knot. Although these ties are seen everywhere in all shades, the black and white are the most popular.
One of the fashions which has introduced a striped tie of this kind, is enjoying a vogue just at present. Otherwise black silk and satin four-in-hands, also tied with a small tight knot, are considered chic by those who are a bit conservative in taste.

The business, lounge or sack suit, by whatever name you may choose to call it, will be made of gray or Scottish mixtures. In some of the patterns there will be a touch of olive and ash-green. The vogue of double breasted fancy waistcoats has departed, especially for morning or business wear.
The waistcoat is high, single breasted, and the corners at the waist line are rounded. The trousers will not be so full over the thighs and will present an even width.

The spring derby has a bell, but not too pronounced, and the slightest suspicion of a curl to the brim. The tall, straight derby, which has been christened the "top hat" and is the throne of Great Britain, is enjoying a short lived popularity. There is hardly any change in the shape of the top hat.
It is less belled, and the brim is a bit straighter. The Homburg hat in gray and black will be seen again, but the southern is bad form, and the colored band outside the hat will not be worn by any one who has the slightest pretense to being well turned out. It is too early to speak of straw hats, but from indications the shapes will be much the same this season as they were the last year.

Tan shoes will come in with the summer. The Oxford tie is now very popular for late spring and summer. For afternoon wear and general street use the buttoned black leather boot is the most popular. Patent leather shoes are but little worn on the street. Shoes are rounded, not pointed, and the boot of the present day shows a breadth of sole and a solid look generally.

SOME NOTES ABOUT PEKING.

Major Gallagher Writes to Chief Commissionary Weston.

General Weston, chief commissary officer, has received a personal letter from Major Hugh J. Gallagher, chief commissary in China. After extending congratulations to General Weston upon his promotion the letter gives some interesting views of Peking, says the Washington Post. Major Gallagher says:

"I never put in a pleasant winter so far as climate is concerned. It is perfectly delightful. My duties are of a nature to keep me busy to about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when I saddle up or take a long walk through the never uninteresting streets of old Peking.

"Just outside of our camp begins the busy and dirty Chien-men street. Starting from the south gate of the Chinese part of the old town, it extends to the gates of the Imperial or Forbidden City. On either side, in the open air, the Chinese merchants display their wares, cloisonne bronzes, porcelains, silk embroideries, rugs, wood carvings, jade and ivory carving, beautiful beyond anything we see in America.
"How I would like to take a tramp with you on the same old wall and along the 'Hafamen,' the Fifth avenue of Peking! It is dirty with the dirt of ages, yet the dirt is forgotten in contemplation of the works of ages. The never ending stream of people and strange conveyances, the carts, the tiny donkeys, the beautiful, big camels patiently trudging along to the sound of the leader's silver bell, the varied hues of wares by the roadside displayed in gorgeous sunlight, make a scene of most fascinating interest.

"I have carried out your orders and those of General Chaffee, and our troops are well supplied with both rations and sales stores. Our men patronee the store to an alarming extent.
Last month (February) the sales amounted to nearly $10,000. As yet we have run out of nothing essential, and I have supplies on hand to carry us to the end of April easily."

TOLD OF FUNSTON.

His Great Disappointment at Failure to Go to West Point.

General Funston, according to a former classmate at the University of Kansas, will never get over his disappointment at not going to West Point about 16 years ago, says a Kansas City dispatch to the New York World.

"Funston," said he, "although one of the smallest men in the university, was one of the pluckiest. Before going to the university, from which he was not graduated, owing to failure in classes, he tried the examination for a West Point cadetship. This was when his father was a congressman.

"Fred's father had at his disposal subject to competitive examination, a cadetship, and Fred, after filling his mind with United States history and practicing at marksmanship and sword exercise for months, went into the examination, which was held at Padua.
Fred thought the cadetship was a sure thing. His father thought so, too, and no doubt helped Fred along as much as possible. In the examination were half a dozen sons of farmers, among them Charles Crawford. When the papers were examined Crawford was found to be the winner by a handsome margin, with Fred a poor second. The disappointment nearly broke Funston's heart, and he was as savage as a bulldog for months afterward."

FUEL OF COMMON EARTH.

Nebraskan Claims to Have Made a Discovery of Much Importance.

E. J. Hoffman of Omaha says he has set the earth afire. He professes, according to the Chicago Record, to have invented a process whereby the clouds of the field will burn with all the gusto of anthracite coal. Crude petroleum, he says, mixed with common earth (gumbo and sand alone excluded), with the addition of two other ingredients, the nature of which constitutes his secret, will make a fuel that will burn better and with a cleaner fire than pine knots. Seventy-five per cent of this de-coction is mother earth. The expense of the other three ingredients is only a trifle. His fuel costs $2.50 a ton. Said he:

"I began experimenting the first thing I did was to mix the oil and earth together and try to burn them in the form of mud, but that wouldn't work.
The oil simply burned out and left the earth practically unchanged. Then I extended my investigations and finally, after years of close application, hit upon the secret. I am confident now that I have the problem solved."

Employment Trust.

A number of St. Paul firms have signed an agreement pledging themselves to employ no person except those recommended by a central bureau created for that purpose and now in operation, says the Chicago Record. The promoters of the plan are confident that through its operations the members subscribing to its conditions can be supplied immediately with competent, safe and careful employees. Naturally all trades are represented. Of course the manager of the bureau gets his commission. An applicant furnished with employment pays a fee of $2.
Should a young man apply directly to a firm he is turned over to the bureau.
The applicant's standing and ability are investigated by a confidential agent and if the applicant is approved he is accepted by the firm, and the young man pays his fee.

Russian Diplomacy.

If there is anything in surface indications, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Russian bear this time means to grab something other than a bone, unless, of course, the other powers seize that something first.

THE BOURBON NEWS.
PUBLISHED EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
SWIFT CHAMP, EDITOR AND OWNER
Tuesday, April 16, 1901.

Republican politicians at Washington are much wrought up over the prospect that Taylor will be sent back to Kentucky. An effort is being made to get Gov. Nash, of Ohio, to promise to protect the fugitives.

A private telegram has been received in London to the effect that Gen. French with 500 British troops have been captured by the Boers while his force was enveloped in mist among the hills.

Deboe has never shown as a scholar or a statesman, but like a faithful dog he is sticking to Taylor, who, by flight made confession of complicity in the assassination of Goebel. Since there is nothing else he can be given credit for we should not begrudge a recognition of Deboe's fidelity, even if it is only of the canine sort.—Louisville Times.

He Is Not a Lunatic.

The Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Will some one, who defends the illegal protection of the refugee, please explain in the light of the testimony given by Taylor should not be compelled to tell what he knows about the cowardly murder of Goebel? And if he really knows nothing about it, will someone place an intelligent interpretation upon his remark to Ripley? Evidently our refugee either knows something or is a lunatic."

Republican Comfort.

[Indianapolis Journal.]

Ex-Gov. Bradley, of Kentucky, is an unimpeachable witness himself, both the testimony he gave in the Ripley case, which is construed by some as implicating ex-Gov. Taylor in the Goebel murder, was at best mere hearsay. Not more hearsay. Even if Taylor said what Bradley says that Ripley said he did, it might have been merely an expression of his belief that things had reached a point that rendered it almost certain that Goebel would be killed. At most, the testimony is hearsay.

May Yet Get His Deserts.

A special to the Sunday dailies from Indianapolis says:

It is firmly believed here that a requisition for the return to Kentucky of W. S. Taylor, and other Kentucky refugees hiding behind the wings of Republican officials in this State, will shortly be presented to Gov. Durbin, and there are those close to the Governor who venture the prediction that such a requisition will be accepted. The reopening of the Goebel case, together with the sensational testimony of ex-Gov. Bradley, in which he testified that Taylor had said: "Goebel cannot live twenty-four hours," has had its visible effect here, notwithstanding Taylor's weak denial sent downstairs through his daughter, and persons in a position to know predict that the requisition will be honored.

Gov. Durbin positively declines to state in advance what he will do. He says he will not cross the bridge until he comes to it, but in private conversation with Republicans he is reported to have said: "This thing done in Kentucky is getting pretty bad and we can't afford to stand in front of this crowd any longer."

Gov. Durbin has so far been giving every indication of wanting to be fair in all his official actions, and this has caused much uneasiness among those close to Taylor and the other members of the gang. Sentiment here is now practically unanimous in favor of their return.

Stock and Crop.

The crop report for March shows the condition of wheat throughout the country to be better than at any time since 1891. The farmer in many of the States, however, fear that the Hessian fly will do much damage before May 1, as it has already made its appearance.

Charlton Alexander, Jr., of Hutchinson, bought twenty-nine 1,023-pound cattle from Mr. Frank Bedford, at 45¢.

Experienced fruit growers seem to think the greatest danger in the way of frosts is passed and that fruit prospects are very good. Reports have gone into the agricultural centers from all over the State to that effect.

Dan Peed left for the Louisville brakes yesterday, to dispose of 61 hds. of tobacco.

Mr. Peed has purchased of Mr. C. A. Daugherty, his crop of tobacco, consisting of 18,000 pounds, at 8 cents, and Steve Houston's crop of 6,000 pounds, at 6 cents.

George H. Ketcham, of Toledo, O., has succeeded in getting another match race for his trotting stallion, Crescenzo, 2:04. For a purse of $10,000 and a side bet of $12,000, Crescenzo will meet The Abbott on the track of the Brighton Tenth Race Association during the week of August 16. The bet has been posted.

How It Is Done.

The first object in life with the American people is to "get rich" the second, how to retain good health. The first can be obtained by energy, honesty and saving; the second, (good health) by using Green's August Flower. Wants Our Trade.

[Louisville Commercial.]

A gentleman, formerly a resident of Louisville, now living in Paris, Ky., capital of Bourbon county, complains of the inferior facilities of getting to Louisville from his place. He puts it this way: "Eighty miles to Cincinnati; time, 5 a. m. to 7 a. m. and 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. back and there you are—a whole day in the city. As to Louisville 112 miles. Leave here at 8 a. m., Louisville at 1 p. m. Leave Louisville at 2 p. m., back here at 6:30, giving one hour in Louisville." This gentleman voices the complaints of others in his neighborhood who would like to have better facilities for reaching Louisville. The Bluegrass region and Paris is nearer the center of it than Lexington is, like Louisville and ought to have facilities for visiting our city. The Commercial club should stir up the railroad on this matter.

Syndicate of Cincinnati Firms Purchase Peacock Distillery.

A syndicate of six large Cincinnati wholesale whiskey firms had been formed, and a deal for the purchase of an important Kentucky distillery has been closed.

The plant is the famous Peacock distillery at Kiserston and the name of the firm under which the syndicate will operate is the Peacock Distilling Company. It is $150,000, and it is understood that the cost of the distillery was not far from that amount.

The concerns that are members of the syndicate are: L. Trager & Co., Freiberg & Hahn, Standard Distilling Company, Back & Greive, Sig and Sol H. Freiberg and H. Kossuthal & Sons. All of these concerns are large distributors of Kentucky whiskeys, and the entire output of the plant will be disposed of through the usual channels of trade.

Negotiations are now pending looking to the erection of a new steam-heated ware house in connection with the plant and the capacity will be increased so that the out-put will be about 20,000 barrels a year. The whiskey that will be manufactured will be only of the highest class.

The Federation of Clubs will meet at the home of Mrs. Camilla Wilson, Thursday evening, April 18th. Miss Clara Cook, of the Peacock Distillery, is the subject of "Birds." Miss Look is a graduate of Wellesley College, is a charming lady and an eloquent speaker. She is thoroughly familiar with her subject and able to command the interest of her audience. It is hoped that each member of the Federation will be present.

You cannot enjoy perfect health, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes if your liver is sluggish and your bowels clogged. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cleanse the whole system. They never gripe. W. T. Brooks.

Address To Colored People.

Elder J. C. Graves, principal of our Colored Schools, has secured Bishop Arnette to deliver an address to the colored people on the evening of his school closing June 7th. This is a wise selection, and shows the deep interest Eld. Graves is taking in the people of his race.

Bishop Arnette has no equal as an orator in his race, and our colored people should begin now to give the noted orator such a hearing as has never been given a colored speaker in Paris.

Bishop Arnette ranks first in his church for his general intelligence, honesty of purpose and love for his race. His subject will be, "The Bright Side Of A Dark Subject." Other announcements will be made later on.

Thought Mrs. Nation Had Come.

Friday afternoon several of the employees of the new telephone company were bringing an unusually long pole down Tenth street to Main on one of their transfer wagons. When they arrived at the corner of Tenth and Pleasant, the driver attempted to turn into Pleasant. The pole was too long to permit the turn, and as it swung around it demolished every pane of glass in the front of the saloon of Coughlin Bros., on the corner.

"Peacock" Coughlin was behind the counter at the time, reading the Bourbon News, account of Mrs. Nation's former visit here. When the crash of glass came, he jumped at the conclusion that Mrs. Nation had arrived, and seizing a shotgun in one hand and a butt-starter in the other, he prepared to meet the enemy. Just then a female denizen of the "Bovary" came in to get a "growler" of beer, and was frightened almost out of her wits by an order to "hold up your hands and drop that hatchet!"

After explanations had been made and all damages settled by the telephone people, the pole proceeded to the corner of Tenth and Main, where it pulled up by the roots the entire iron fence enclosing the yard of Mr. Buckner Woodford.

A Plea for Paris.

It will be an impossibility for the managers of the Opera House in this city to secure first class attractions for next season, unless those they are furnishing this season are better patronized. There has never been a better play given to the American public than that of "Arizona," which is to be given at the Opera House to-night. It was written by Mr. Augustus Thomas, the foremost American dramatist. The scenery for every act was painted by the leading scenic painters of the country, and the decorations, costumes and accoutrements were designed by the master hand of Frederic Remington.

As the name implies, "Arizona" has its scenes, characters and incidents located in the picturesque far west. It has a love story of tender and almost as tragic as that of "Romeo and Juliet," and it has a relief work of humor as ripe and unctious as that which Mr. Thomas has previously shown us in "Alabama" and "In Missouri."

To those persons who rush to Lexington at every opportunity to witness a performance a little above the average, we would say patronize your home place of amusement, and in a short while it will not be necessary for you to go to Lexington.

STORIES OF THE STAGE.

Coming Attractions, Gossip In the Lobby and Boxes

"ARIZONA."

"Augustus Thomas' play, "Arizona," to be presented at the Opera House to-night is a conspicuous novelty in the way of stage literature, not that the constructing or animating motives of the characters are any different from those which have become familiar to the student of the drama in Shakespeare's time down to the present, but by reason of the unfamiliar field of action and the characters entirely strange to most theatre-goers. Thomas has taken the ranch people of the Southwest, Uncle Sam's cavalrymen, the neighboring and erratic Mexican and the bland silent-fisted Chinese servant, for the folks who unwind the skein of as pretty and dainty a romance as has ever been written by an American author. In selecting the artists who are to impersonate these peculiar characters, Mr. Thomas has chosen individuals especially adapted for the portrayal of the roles which they are to enact.

John W. Cope, who is playing Canby the Ranchman, in "Arizona," has been retained by Kirke La Sells to play that part in the revival at the Academy of Music in New York.
